

Abdesalam ZOUITA
CPGE- Lâayoune Morocco
Project title: School experience.
Academic year: 2011-2012

Nasir Danzaria, Katsina College
Katsina, Nigeria
Project title: Poor Performance in the classroom who is responsible?

The poor performance of student who is to blame

As a student, I think it is difficult to precise who is responsible of low achievement of student because there many parties have a hand in this fact (the student himself, the family, the school, and the Internet).

The first of all, the student is the center of educational system; he performs poorly because of his personal problems for example those between his parents. The student can't concentrate in his studies, he didn't his homework consequently, the teacher expels him from class to the street where he smokes and takes drugs. if the family didn't educate efficiently their children and send them to school of course, they will be less good. Also if the school, the administration and the teachers are not severs and if schools 'lows aren't particles by students. They can't certainly receive and they can't learn in there. The society influence psychically by its negative mentality; studies without job this famous idea injects students and despair them.

Finally, we can't forget the effect of technological means, especially the Internet. There is no doubt is the easiest mean for studies; we can find anything we want but on the other hand, it spoils the student intellectually and morally by involving in some immoral sites and spending much time on front of computer. So we should work together to solve students from all these troubles to be a good citizen, to be able to build his future.

In brief we can present all these factors in this diagram:

The poor performance of student is one of the most important topic should be discuss In our society. So we should ask our self who is the responsible of this deterioration is the teacher or the society or government, or parents, or the student himself.

I think that all this members are responsible because each one of theme is complete one part of that responsibility on other words each one play an important role in student life and in his personality too. Lest start with teachers, the teacher is that personnel who give to student the way to get information or to correct the false ideas also he teach lessons with a way make student understand ,for society job it is making the student study in a good situations such us security, political rest , good schools and equipment necessary for his study life ,the government too should select the teachers who have experience and capacities to understand student needs, and make a suitable and useful school programs not just imitate it from others countries which put always the student in confuse. For parent should offer to their children good time and place also support them to be self-reliant .coming at the end the student, this one is the reel responsible, because if this last do not care is a lazy, but other members cannot do nothing, for that reason the student must be serious and hard working in his studies and make a big effort to get the performance level.

Finally, the poor performance of a student in classroom is depending to him in the first degree than his environment of members who takes care about him.

Poor performance in the classroom, who is responsible?

Education constitutes the basic elementary of the development of any country in all the domains. That's why from one hand, the government should establish better conditions to guaranty an ideal formation. Nowadays, it seems that the student doesn't achieve his goals because of many problems. First of all, the government doesn't complete its obligations. For example: the public sector bears from many problems, because of the absence of care about the school. In this latest years, the previous governments tent to encourage the private schools. We can also add the absence of security, very charged programs, absence of encouragement of the teachers {low salary, absence of schooling conditions...}... this had negative effects on the teacher. He would not care about doing his job perfectly. He transmits wrong messages to the students. On the other hand, he constitutes a source of non-encouragement of them. There is another type of teachers who aren't well performed, not well formatted. As a result they contribute on the poor performance of the student in the classroom. The parents in their part play an important role on the performance of their child. As much as they motivate him, he gives his best performance. Also, when there is the feeling of security, support, mercy, solidarity, and happiness between the family members, these had a direct influence on the child's mood and mentality. But when the parents don't care about the future of their son \daughter, absence of stability and protection {addicted parents, criminal parents...}. We can also add the poverty that pushes the student to left his studies....the other factor that plays a basic role on the student's performance is the society. For example, when it receives bad things from it, such as drug \alcohol addiction... or when he feels that it is rejected because of his familial situation... all these things influence the student's studies.

I think that the society, the government, the parents, and the teacher play an essential role on the performance of the student. In stand to blame each factor, it is preferred to collaborate and try to find solutions to improve the student performance. As a result they will benefit from the capacities and skills of him {the student} on develop the nation.

Fatima BAIS

Education is one of the most important human problems like it's for development .poor performance of students in classroom it's a result of many reasons not only students, but also other members are including as serious factors for this problem. The questions which should be asked here is who the responsible of this deterioration? It is teachers, society, parents, government or student themselves.

In my opinion all this members are responsible, because each one play an important role in education life of students and in their personalities or their characters composition.

There are many reasons for children to underperform in school life, such as, cultural home environment, society environment, emotional problems, medical problems, below average intelligence, learning ability.

The most of children who have the habit of watching too much the television or using media tools they have hearing or visual problems, and probably it can Limit their thinking and intellectual impairment too, for that reason parents should take care of their children from the beginning of their life .

Poor socio-cultural home environment and status of families have a beg chance of poor school performance because less motivation or encourage learning of students sue due to for example to the poverty, violence, lack of love from family and families problems.

Living in a noisy environment which has a bad satiations like the absent of security, political unrest and aggressive behavior causes of poor performance.

The government too should select teachers with experience and whose have the capacity to understand students' needs and their learning ability and their intelligence too , furthermore, make a suitable and useful school programs, not just imitate it from others countries which put always the student in confuse.

The student is the reel responsible in the end, if this last do not care or lazy the other members cannot do anything, for that reason he or she must be serious and hardworking also make a big effort to avoid this obstacles.

Finally, it is important to remember that a student may be having more than one reason for the poor school performance but he or she should find the ways to continuous their studies and the should trying to get the performance level.

Fatima OUHBI

in the classroom who is responsible?

There are many factors which control a student performs poorly in his class. That's means we can not specify exactly who is responsible because in my opinion I think that the student, the parents, the teachers, the society and the government participate directly in this poor performance.

I will start by government roles in protecting the good atmosphere to student in order to save them all necessary conditions to learn better. I can give an example of some schools which suffer from many problems especially in the public schools such us: lack of materials in classroom, more than forty students in each class (over crowdedness), and material's quality is very bad and even more importantly we don't have the laboratory in hay schools. This is only one simple example between others which gives us general image about the student situation in school which influence negatively on his performs.

It is needless to talk about the role of society in student performs poorly. Some students suffer from their situation in society. Their life becomes very difficult and complex. They have problems which lead them to not concentrate at class. I can give her some examples which reflect this point: the problems between parents, divorce's problem, poverty, the bad friendship

Of course, we cannot deny the important roles of teachers in school. It's very difficult to learn without teachers. They give us a lot; they often try to show us the best way to become a good person in the future not only by learning but also by advising. Despite their performance, the way of learning is deferent. They are some of them not responsible in his class which make student don't care to understand.

Personally speaking I think in one hand that all of these parts participate in this problem but each one has their own effects which reflect student suffering during his education. In the other hand I think that student is also responsible because some of them who refuse to study. Furthermore, we have many students who are the best in his class despite they suffer from a lot of problems.

Ghizlane OUBELLOUCH

ECT-1